Preferred major(s): Television Broadcasting, Television/Radio Production (Juniors or Seniors only)

Special Skills: Some knowledge of television production and post-production equipment and use, understanding of popular graphics programs, strong computer skills, good organizational and interpersonal skills.

Job Description: Intern will divide their time evenly in observing and working in the various areas of post-production. About 25% of their time will be spent helping out with video editing needs and learning the video side of post-production. About 25 percent of their time will go to working with audio editing. 25% of their time will be in assisting in digitizing, learning the technical side of post-production, including dubbing. The final 25% of their time will be spent learning the administrative tasks that are necessary to run a Post house, including scheduling and client relations. Intern will be exposed to clients in the Programming, Creative Services, Engineering and Graphics departments of CMT, plus external clients from various production facilities.

Department Profile: The Post-Production department supports all of CMT’s editing requirements. They are responsible for editing programs, promotional spots and company presentations as well as all encoding needs for web and mobile video. They have 14 video editing bays, 6 audio editing bays, three encoding stations and 4 Imaging workstations capable of both High Definition and Standard Definition projects.

Production / Development

Preferred number of days needed: minimum of four days per week and 20 hours per week.
Preferred major(s): Communications, Music Business, TV Broadcasting, Broadcast Journalism. (Juniors and Seniors only)

Special Skills: Microsoft Suite (Word, Excel, Outlook), technical knowledge of TV production, Internet research skills, professional phone skills. Must have excellent organizational skills, previous office experience, and have an interest in learning about the film and television industry.

Job Description: Student will have extensive exposure to the cable/entertainment industry. Intern will have the opportunity to learn from a diversified number of assignments with an emphasis on projects rather than clerical tasks. They will work in CMT’s Original Programming Dept and learn the many aspects involved in the development of our original series and specials. They will gain access to some, if not all, of the department’s show projects including pre-production and post-production of our upcoming series pilots. As an intern, you will read and evaluate our pilot and series scripts as well as attend departmental meetings. You’ll assist in the organization of submitted materials, screen films, prepare evaluations to be presented at departmental meetings, and provide support to the Development department on upcoming projects such as testing and refining our network shared development/acquisitions system. We provide a productive, yet relaxed environment where you can hone your skills and develop lasting business relationships. You’ll work closely with the staff of CMT’s Planning & Scheduling dept. by tracking our schedules. You will have the opportunity to screen shows, movies, and write programs evaluations.

This internship allows exposure to the corporate side of production, monitoring information uploads into our production data base and researching and developing a program. Exposure to the full spectrum of production with some on-set visits and post production observation will also be an objective for this intern. Organization, initiative, and attention to detail are key for this role.

Department Profile: The Program Development/Production group creates and produces original CMT programming and retools existing CMT programs. Shows that are produced internally at CMT have a small production team consisting of a Producer, Associate Producer and a Researcher. This team creates the entire show from pre-production and research through scripting, shooting and the post-production (editing) process. For shows not produced at CMT, Executive Producers and other Production staff members work closely with 3rd party production companies on the creative content of these shows. They also ensure that the programming conforms to the network’s broadcast standards and that all CMT departments (i.e. Press, Dot Com, Promos) have the resources they need for each show.

Production Management

Preferred number of days needed: minimum of 3 per week and 16 hours per week.
Preferred major(s): Accounting, Finance, Business, Music Business, Television Production. (Juniors and Seniors only)

Special Skills: Microsoft Suite (Word, Excel, Outlook), technical knowledge of TV production, Internet research skills, professional phone skills.
Job Description: Intern will spread their time working on various aspects of budgeting and scheduling for CMT show projects. They will typically spend a portion of their week creating the production management calendars, creating production binders for managers, producers, and directors. They will circulate contracts and budget information to all appropriate departments and personnel. May have some exposure to third party vendors. Will assist with scheduling meetings, and will have other duties as assigned. Intern may be exposed to various CMT projects, such as award shows, live show tapings, and series programming. Interns will interact with internal clients from Programming, Music & Talent, Research, and Production Operations.

Department Profile: The Production Management team manages all of CMT’s productions: it develops budgets for shoots and events; translate creative goals into workable production scenarios and shoot schedules; research, negotiate, and hire production companies, crew, locations, and equipment; and manage productions to the budget's bottom line. Production Management oversees all aspects of the business side of production. It works closely with the Programming and Creative departments to execute creative goals in the most creative, efficient, and sensible way. It also works closely with the Finance department to ensure that production paperwork is accurate, submitted in a timely manner, and actual expenses are tracked accurately. In addition, it works closely with the Legal department to ensure safety on set and compliance with the network’s policies. This is a fun and smart team! Interns will gain versatile set experience and networking opportunities that will help them in any facet of film, video or event production that they may pursue upon graduation. Successful candidates are inquisitive, organized, resourceful, outgoing, and possess excellent communication skills.
